This event has been designed for pharmacists involved in the care of adult surgical patients. The day will focus on issues predominant in older patients on surgical wards, and is suitable for pharmacists who have recently specialised as well as those who are working at early advanced levels.

Aim

The aim of this day is to equip pharmacists with the skills to optimise pharmaceutical care for older surgical patients, to identify and understand the main issues affecting their management, including sessions on dementia and delirium care, bone health, regional anaesthesia and the management of polypharmacy, and to highlight the importance of cooperating across professions and organisations to achieve the best outcome for the individual patient.
